- The Competition would require the participants to draft an agreement based on the Contract Proposition, which would be a fictional problem depicting a legal relationship between two parties.
- The Contract Proposition shall be on a commercial topic of contemporary relevance.
- Apart from the Agreement, the participants are also required to include a 'Concept Note' in their submissions, briefly explaining the position of law to their client and highlighting the rationale behind inclusion of clauses in the agreement.

- The Agreements received from the participants shall be reviewed by judges having expertise in the subject matter.
- The Top Fifteen entries as per the review shall proceed to Phase II of the competition.

CONTRACT PRESENTATION AND ASSESSMENT

- The Top Fifteen entries shall be invited to the NLIU Campus to present their agreements before a panel of esteemed dignitaries.
- The panelists shall assess the performance of the presenters on their subject knowledge, manner of presentation, and other relevant skills.
- This shall be followed by a session on contract drafting, followed by the distribution of prizes in the valedictory ceremony on the same day.

OBJECTIVES

- The event has been launched to foster the learning of practical aspects relating to law of contracts. It provides a chance to showcase skills before experienced academicians and working professionals.
- There are very few competitions organised which provide such an opportunity to the law students, wherein they get to appreciate commercial transactions.
- Working on a niche legal problem, the participating students will get hands-on experience in transactional drafting, which forms an important facet in learning law.
- The objective of specifically including the presentation is to render a unique addition to contract drafting competitions. The element of presentation would help in assessing the knowledge of participants and their rationale behind drafting clauses.

WHY PRESENTATION?

- To test the participants' understanding of the clauses incorporated in the contract rather than the mere use of AI and boiler plate clauses
- To provide a unique experience to the participants in understanding the expectation of experts and practitioners, while presented with the said problem
- To foster discussions about the best possible way of drafting an agreement, thereby providing a firsthand experience of real-time expectations
- To understand the rationale behind the arrangement of clauses by the participant and be presented with real-time feedback from experts
- To provide an active engagement with professionals thereby providing an in-depth understanding of nuanced drafting
